

- What did you find? Which borough is the most expensive? Any other interesting trends?

I found that the Hackney boroughs of London have seen the greatest increase in housing prices, on average, over the last two decades.

- How did you arrive at your conclusion?

After completing our analysis; as shown above, Hackney has seen the greatest price increase with ~6.2% when we compared average prices between 1998 and 2018.

- What were the main challenges you encountered? How did you overcome them? What could you not overcome?

Analyzing which boroughs showed big changes in pricing and why, I overcame this by comparing 1995 and 2018 data and showing which boroughs have the price increased.

- Is there anything you'd like to investigate deeper?

Investigate different factors that affect housing market supply and demand.